9th January 2011

The Feast of the Baptism of the Lord

Here, Matthew describes Jesus' baptism, the event which marks the beginning of his public ministry, and which is recorded in all four Gospels. The passage is distinctly Trinitarian, as it records a manifestation of the Father, Son and Spirit. The symbiotic nature of the Trinity is also highlighted: The Father confirms the Son as the One sent by him and the Son undertakes willingly the work of the Father with the help of the Spirit

Second Sunday of Ordinary Time

John identifies Jesus as 'the Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world', resonating with the sacrificial Passover lamb of Exodus. This was the person foretold in Isaiah as the Suffering Servant who would be led like a lamb to the slaughter and is now revealed to Israel and the world as the Chosen One – the Son of God. John the Baptist therefore not only knew Jesus for his mission but also for who he really was.

27th Sunday in Ordinary Time

An old Cherokee Indian is telling his grandson about a fight going on inside himself. He said it was between two wolves. One is evil: envy, sorrow, arrogance, self pity, resentment, inferiority, lies, false pride. The other is good: serenity, benevolence, kindness, hope, empathy, generosity, truth, compassion, faith. The grandson thought about it for a moment and then asked his grandfather, 'Which wolf wins?' the old Cherokee gave a clear response, 'The one I feed.' The Gospel at Mass this weekend is equally clear 'Do what is good for your Soul.'

29th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Jesus reminds us in the Gospel today that we need a Spirit of persistence's when we pray; this is a challenge because most things in the world are instant. It was the woman's persistence that moved the judge to mercy. It would be our persistence's in our prayer that will move God to be Merciful.

Mission Sunday

The mission month of October, especially Mission Sunday, offers the entire People of God the occasion for renewing their commitment to proclaim the Gospel. The Eucharist is the source and summit of the mission of the Church. There we encounter the Love of God that transforms our existence, enabling us to live in communion with Jesus and offer a credible witness and a reason for our hope. We reflect on the Father's loving plan for all people and seek to love them as he does. The love that we celebrate is not something we can keep to ourselves: it demands to be shared with all. What the world needs is God's love; it needs to encounter Christ and to believe in Him. (Pope Benedict XVI)

32nd Sunday of Ordinary Time

It was St Francis of Assisi who said "Preach the Gospel and if necessary use Words". He reminds us that our lives should reflect what we believe. During this Month of November we remember all our deceased relatives and friends. Our prayer is that they will enjoy happiness and peace with God in Heaven. We pray with the hope that we will all be reunited in Gods eternal Kingdom. In the meantime, we preach the gospel by the way we live upon this Earth.

33rd Sunday of Ordinary Time

Wisdom understanding, counsel, fortitude, knowledge, piety and fear of the Lord. The central gift of the Holy Spirit, fortitude, is one we need so much at times. The turmoil and confusion in the world can be reflected in our own personal lives through the various crosses we have to carry. Jesus never promised to remove his followers from the troubles of life, but he did promise to give us strength. St Anthony of Padua said: 'Just as a fish is not hurt by the constant pounding of the waves of the sea, neither is strong faith destroyed by life's adversities.' The true follower of Christ may lose his or her life but will never lose his or her soul.

First Sunday of Advent

The Gospel forces us to ponder on what we do know and what we don't know. It's easier to list what we don't know. We don't know the day or the hour when the Son of Man will come and no amount of study is going to tell us. We simply do not know. But we do know what we are supposed to do in the meantime. We are to be ready, awake, not laying half asleep waiting for the alarm to go off – be up, anticipate the alarm. The long finger, on which we put so much; tomorrow, when we will do so much, are two of the most dangerous inventions ever. The antidote? The little letters – now.

Second Sunday of Advent

John the Baptist lives a life of penance in the wilderness; this is his living commitment to God. The wilderness, from which he comes and preaches, is part of the great prophetic tradition which looks to the wilderness for God's final revelation. John is the one whom Isaiah foretold, and his call is to prepare a way for the Lord. He calls for repentance, in Greek literally meaning 'return'. His call is for the conversion to God's ways. This conversion is closely allied to a confession of sins, a 'mentanoia' a complete change of heart and life.

Second Sunday after Christmas

Authors differ as to whether the Prologue is an overture to the Gospel, a prefatory summary of it, a philosophical rationale for the main thesis of the Gospel or free-standing hymn which later integrated into the Gospel. It addresses key theological issues such as the divinity of Christ, the origin of the Cosmos and the creation of life, and it intimates the triune nature of God. The core message is about the incarnation. The key concepts of light and life have rich religious overtones whether they are read from a Greek, Gnostic or Jewish perspective. This passage needs to be read and reread.

*A Special Word of Thanks for your generosity towards the Christmas Gift Collection.
Wishing you and all your families a Happy and Peaceful New Year.*

The Feast of the Baptism of the Lord

Here, Matthew describes Jesus' baptism, the event which marks the beginning of his public ministry, and which is recorded in all four Gospels. The passage is distinctly Trinitarian, as it records a manifestation of the Father, Son and Spirit. The symbiotic nature of the Trinity is also highlighted: The Father confirms the Son as the One sent by him and the Son undertakes willingly the work of the Father with the help of the Spirit

Second Sunday of Ordinary Time

John identifies Jesus as 'the Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world', resonating with the sacrificial Passover lamb of Exodus. This was the person foretold in Isaiah as the Suffering Servant who would be led like a lamb to the slaughter and is now revealed to Israel and the world as the Chosen One – the Son of God. John the Baptist therefore not only knew Jesus for his mission but also for who he really was.

Third Sunday of Ordinary Time

The Gospel today is one of the most beautiful and lyrical passages in the New Testament. It's the story of Jesus' call of the first disciples. There's something peaceful about the story. What Matthew's is doing is sharing at the beginning of Jesus' ministry what he is essentially about. Jesus comes as a representative of God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit – a family of Love.

Fifth Sunday of Ordinary Time

This is what we are about: We plant seeds that one day will grow. We water seeds already planted, knowing that they hold future promise... We cannot do everything, and there is a sense of liberation in realizing that. This enables us to do something and to do it very well... We may never see the end results, but that is the difference between the master builder and the worker. We are workers, not master builders, ministers, not Messiahs. We are prophets of a future not our own. (Oscar Romero)

*Holiness' is something we are all called to but frequently escapes us! The story in today's Gospel takes place on a Holy Mountain and the apostle Peter offers shelter to Moses, Elijah and Jesus. 22nd May 2011

5th Sunday of Easter

Today's Gospel speaks to us of trust, and of hope. 'Do not let your hearts be troubled,' are the comforting words of Jesus. 'Trust in God still, and trust in me.' Jesus is going away but he will return. As well as trusting in Jesus, the disciples must trust in themselves and their experiences of Jesus.

22nd Sunday of Ordinary Time

We have come here to be nourished from your incredible abundance, from which you rained down manna on our ancestors in the desert. During these days open our ears so that we may be nourished with your Word. ### A Quiet Reflection

*Be silent, Be still, Alone, Empty,
Before your God
Say Nothing, Be silent, Be still,
Let your God look upon you
That is all
God knows, God understands
God loves you with an enormous love
And only wants to look upon you
With that love
Quiet, Still be
Let your God love You
(Edwina Gately: Portraits of a laywoman)*

The New Missal

*This weekend Sept 10/11 we will begin using the new responses to the different prayers in the Mass.
These are the new prayers that are in the new Roman Missal to be fully implemented by the First Sunday of Advent.

It will be a time of change and adjustment for all of us. We will need to be patient as we adjust from prayers that we are very familiar with to some newer prayers that are adjusted slightly*

25th Sunday of Ordinary Time

In today's Gospel we hear a parable which at first hearing seems to be confusing, but which on closer inspection shows the overwhelming scale of God's Love. We learn that the ways of God are not ours and are encouraged to seek the Lord while he may be found and to call to him while he is near.

Help us to help those in need

Lavey St Vincent de Paul would like to take this opportunity to thank the parishioners in Lavey for their continued support and appeal for that little bit extra support during St Vincent de Paul Week. We understand there are people in our parish who are reluctant to ask for help from the St Vincent de Paul, perhaps because of embarrassment, but the society wants to reach out and to give what help it can particularly during the current economic recession.
